Hey all,

We're looking forward to having many of you at our mobility-focused DTLA 2040 working group this week. An agenda will be forthcoming, but in the meantime I wanted to share a really great resource prepared for DLANC a few years back called Your Downtown LA. It's a long document, but it has a lot of really great ideas and materials that are very relevant to the discussions we're having today. If you want to skim it, I'd recommend skipping ahead to page 59 and taking a look at the Mobility chapter as well as the Public Realm and Opportunity Corridor chapters that follow it. I think this will serve as a good primer for Friday's working group, so I hope you're able to check it out.

Another great resource is the Central City East Planning Study, also created by AECOM. Similar to DLANC's report, the mobility-oriented content starts about halfway through the pdf: http://industrialdistrictla.com/wp-content/uploads/2016/02/CCE\_Final\_Study\_November2015\_r1.pdf

See you on Friday!
